

Noble Maritime Collection

at historic Snug Harbor Cultural Center

The Noble Maritime Collection is located on the grounds of Snug Harbor Cultural Center, 1000 Richmond Terrace, Staten Island. There is plenty of free parking available. Also, there is a handicap reserved parking space specifically designated for the Noble Maritime Collection. Snug Harbor is accessible through gates on both the east and the west sides of the site. The directions below will direct you to the east gate located on Fillmore Street. Once you enter the gate, make an immediate left and you will see the parking area. (Note for handicap parking: once inside the gate, make the first right hand turn and then follow the road around a left-hand bend. Just around the bend, you will see the signed parking space near the first building on your right)

Once parked, follow the signs directing you towards the Noble Maritime Collection. It is located in Building 'D'. There are five Greek revival style buildings in a row along the front of the site (near the waterfront and Richmond Terrace). If you were to stand with your back to the water, Building 'D' is the second building from the left of these five. There is both a front and back entrance to the museum (back door is handicap accessible). Ring the bell on the side of the door and our staff will welcome you.

By public transportation:

Take the subway to South Ferry. The Staten Island Ferry is a free trip and runs every 15 minutes at weekday rush hour and every 30 minutes for the majority of the day and weekends (Ferry info, click here). From the ferry terminal at Staten Island take the S40 bus, it is a very short trip. There is a bus stop located at the front gate of Snug Harbor. Once inside the gate, notice the signs for The Noble Maritime Collection which is the second building from the left. (Note: Walking time from the ferry terminal is approximately 40 minutes, a nice walk along the waterfront)
